LIGHT

By Joshua Mouser

Light within my mind and my state of being i am one with what I should not be.

Pressures depressurize as the vapors of higher education vaporize and dissipate much like I will one day leave in pursuit of those elusive vapors.

Colleagues turn into steel beams as the weight of many vapors weigh weary on them, being light is not a concept they could possibly even begin to fathom.

From entrance essays to ACT sundays they bear the weight of what seems to be their entire future on their shoulders,

Oh how i wish i could teach them to be light.
